

Dickerson Power Plant

More than 40,000
Loudoun residents
live within 10 miles
of a coal-fired
power plant.

How safe is it?
How clean is it?
What can be done to make it better?

Hear from legislators
and activists.

May 16, Lucketts
Community Center,
7:00 PM

Featured speaker:

Delegate Joe T. May

on past efforts to reduce emissions

Also:

Eric Schaeffer

Environmental Integrity Project

Brooks Cressman

Virginia Sierra Club

Maryland Power Plants Linked to 700 Premature Deaths per Year

BALTIMORE, Maryland, February 15, 2006 (ENS) - Nationwide, 700 premature deaths, 30,000 asthma attacks and 400 pediatric emergency room visits each year are linked to current pollution from six Maryland power plants, according to a new study released today by the Maryland Nurses Association (MNA).

The Center is 10 minutes north of Leesburg on Route 15

For more information:

On the web www.lccss.org

Email prognexus@deciph.com

Phone (540) 242-3215